Subject: APA Distinguished Award 2019

Dear Prof. Laura Teodori

Asian Polymer Association (APA) was born in 2007 with its base at IIT Delhi (www.asianpolymer.org). It has a tradition to honor distinguished polymer scientists across the globe during its annual conferences every year. In last 10 years of its existence, this award has been conferred to Prof. Ashok Misra, India (2008), Prof J. Hilborn, Sweden (2009), Prof. A Suzuki, Japan (2011), Prof. Kurt Geckeler, Korea (2013), Prof. L. Ambrosio, Italy (2014), Prof. SK Nayak, India (2015), Prof Philippe Roger, France (2016) and Prof. Dhanjay Jhurry, University of Mauritius (2017), Prof. Seeram Ramakrishna, NUS, Singapore (2018). The key requirement of this award is excellence in polymer related scientific career of the person with very high reputation at the international level as well as significant contribution to education and the society.

This year, the award has been finalized for its presentation during APA-2019 conference in Goa, during October 16-18, 2019 (www.apa-stermi.org). After the screening process, the APA Executive Committee has recommended your name to be conferred with this award. We are glad that this recommendation meets requirements for this award to one of the most creative and dynamic scientist in the field of biomedical engineering at International level.

On behalf of APA, we would like to congratulate you for this achievement and would invite you to participate in APA-2019 conference in Goa. As a part of this programme, we invite you to deliver Plenary address on this occasion. We would be privileged to provide you complementary registration and accommodation during the conference days. It is a great moment for all of us to see you as the recipient of the APA Distinguished Award and we look forward to welcoming you in Goa.

With best wishes

Bhuvanesh Gupta
President, APA
